Killer 80 claims another

A Belle Glade man was seriously injured in this truck early Wednesday morning when he was involved in a three-truck accident 11.9 miles east of Belle Glade on SR 80 but Florida Highway Patrol Trooper G.L. Bradshaw said the other two drivers and two passengers in this pickup weren't injured. Bradshaw said Stobie Inman, 65, of 52 Roosevelt St. was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach with a collapsed lung. His wife, Jackie and a passenger, Willie Woodard, as well as drivers Billy Neal, 23, of Riviera Beach and Guzman Belancourt, 31, were uninjured. Bradshaw said early indications are that Inman may have moved into the wrong lane and then back into his own lane after Neal, who was driving toward Inman and Belancourt, took evasive action and sideswiped the other two trucks. The trooper said Neal and Belancourt were cited for not having valid driver's licenses but no other charges had been made.

as city prepares for court takeover

Fate of Belle Glade jail pondered

BELLE GLADE-The City Commission decided in a workshop session Monday night to maintain the city jail when the municipal court is phased out Jan. 3 - in spite of the desires of the commissioners and Belle Glade Police Chief Charles Goodlett.

Goodlett recommended several months ago that when the court changeover takes place that the city jail be closed down in an economy move and the commissioners were in wholehearted agreement.

But when Goodlett met with the commission Monday, he said the city should probably go ahead and operate the jail with no major changes because the city will be required to maintain their own prisoners and the only other holding facility in the Glades is the Pahokee City Jail.

The Belle Glade facility is also heavily used by the Florida Division of Offender Rehabilitation as a distribution point for state prisoners being shipped to South Florida prisons.

"It looks like we will have enough of that business", Goodlett told the commissioners "that we're going to have to keep the jail open."

Goodlett told the city officials there are several alternative futures for the jail but at this time, he advised them to "sit tight."

One of those alternatives will depend on the outcome of negotiations begun between the city and state officials. The state wants the city to either hold the jail open and put up state prisoners or to lease the facility to the DOR.

Goodlett said he hopes the jail will eventually be leased by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office especially next summer when a new jury district is expected to be formed in the Glades.

Palm Beach County State Attorney David Bludworth said he would like to see the city jail held open for the time being but he said he intends to recommend that the state and county build a regional 125-bed holding facility to be placed somewhere in the Glades.

Bludworth said the state could use the facility to house state prisoners being moved and prisoners of the county, Belle Glade, Pahokee and South Bay could also be incarcerated there.

He envisions a single facility with 100 beds for men and 25 for women.

The Glades facility would be in addition to a proposal he said he intended to present to the county commission Wednesday to build a new criminal justice complex west of I-95 on Southern Boulevard.

Bludworth said that facility would be used to house the State Attorney's office, the Sheriff's Office, the Public Defender's Office, the Probation and Parole Office, a county jail and any other agencies involved in criminal justice.

Goodlett told the commissioners, however, that if they intended to keep the jail open they would have to do something about the salaries of the jailers.

He said his head jailer had walked out on the job last week and he can't keep jailers on the salaries they are earning. Goodlett and City Manager Robert Sanders said the jailers earn as little as $2.70 an hour compared to the minimum $3.14 paid manual laborers.

The commissioners agreed to raise the wages of jailers to as much $3.24 an hour in an effort to get and hold the quality of personnel they need.

Belle Glade goes Hollywood

BELLE GLADE-If people still named months for their events, December could be known in the future to area residents as the month Belle Glade went Hollywood - either that or the month the Ants (with a capital) took over.

It isn't just that a movie will be filmed in town but the city will become a star to the point of assuming a stage name when filming begins here next week on "Empire of the Ants".

"Diamond Springs", according to Casting Director Jack Koslyn, will be Belle Glade's "home de screen" and will play the role of a town subjugated by mutated ants, six feet long and two feet high attracted to the 140 million tons of sugar at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida Sugar Mill. Koslyn said footage will be shot in the downtown area, at the sugar mill, in sugar cane fields and on highways in the area. He said the execs expect to wind up shooting here by the day following Christmas.

He said Bert I. Gordon, producer and director of the science fiction film, is an expert on special effects and "Empire of the Ants" will feature footage of a large species of South America ant, using a special camera which "sees" 38 images and full scale mockups.

Koslyn, himself was an actor in the movie and he said he was the first one "killed" by the ants.

Other stars in the movie include

Joan Collins, Robert Lansing, Jacquelin Scott, John David Carson and Pamela Shoop. All these will be in Belle Glade for the filming but several others, including Robert Prine, Brooke Palance (daughter of Jack), Ed Power, Irene Tedrow, Harry Holcomb have already been wiped out by the time the survivors reach Belle Glade.

Koslyn said about 40 local people will also be used to portray the townspeople.

The movie is being released by American International Films, the company which released "Westworld and Futureworld", as well as "Food of the Gods", which Koslyn said has been slated to win an award.

Janice Flieth and Jane Schoenfeld sell tickets for Super Stocking Friday in front of the Belle Glade Post Office. Proceeds from the sale of the one dollar tickets will go to the Children's Home Society. A drawing will be made at 10 a.m. Dec. 18 at White's Auto Store.

Air pollution battle looms

BELLE GLADE-Sugar Cane

Growers Cooperative of Florida President George Wedgworth told county officials Wednesday the Florida Sugar Cane League would like to work with Palm Beach County officials on environmental problems, not battle them.

Wedgworth borrowed his wording in a presentation to the Palm Beach County Environmental Management Committee from a letter mailed to him early this week by Committee Chairman Dennis Koehler.

Wedgworth is chairman of the Florida Sugar Cane League's Environmental Quality Committee and made his presentation at the invitation of Koehler, a newly-elected Palm Beach County Commissioner who has been the source of several newspaper articles on the sugar industry's contribution to Glades air pollution.

Koehler and Wedgworth have locked horns in the past on environmental issues when Koehler, as head of the county Environmental Control Board, attempted to remove the agricultural exemption from the county's environmental control act.

In a letter dated December 1 and received Monday to Wedgworth, Koehler invited Wedgworth to make the presentation and closed by saying he looked forward to "working with you on our county's environmental problems".

In an inter-office memo to Frank C. Gargiulo, director of the county Dept. of Environmental Sciences and Engineering, however, Koehler asked Gargiulo to research five questions "in order to prepare for the 'pollution control battle' with the agricultural industry that seems to lie ahead".

That memorandum was dated Nov. 23. It addressed itself to a number of questions, including:

What state agency currently has regulatory responsibility for agricultural pollution sources? Koehler said he recalled control was transferred from the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) to the Dept. of Agriculture but pointed out that $22,000 in fines recently would indicate the DER has resumed enforcement control.

A "sulfur dioxide study committee" formed by the state about a year ago and what was the committee's status and whether or not they had issued an interim report.

"Since Mr. Wedgworth appears to disagree with Health Department reports showing worsening ambient air quality in the Glades, please supply us with the latest information to support or refute his contention".

Koehler indicated he wanted the information taken from a sampling station at the Belle Glade Water Dept. as well as SO2 levels and other "relevant non-air" pollution information on the Glades industry. For example, we should have some idea about the county sources of nutrient loading into Lake Okechobee.

"Recalling the sugar industry's 1974 argument that 'open burning is the only feasible means of disposing of the canebrake, what is the current state of the art in cane harvesting/cane brake removal technology? and how effective the industry's 'controlled burning program' has been in reducing 'to a minimum' particulate matter sprinkled on Glades residents."

Koehler suggested the county Environmental Control Officer, "rummage through the Agricultural Exemption file and the brown, legal sized folder of correspondence on the subject".

Koehler has been quoted in at least two newspaper articles that he has had reports the county's particulate sampling station at the city's water plant has indicated a steady growth in air pollution in the Glades.

Wedgworth has countered with the argument that the league maintains a sampling unit at the water plant also and while the league unit agrees with the county unit, it isn't indicative of what has been happening over all the area.

"Since June of 1967", Wedgworth said, "the industry has had the most comprehensive and oldest ambient air sampling program in the county for suspended particulates", and maintains a staff of four people working exclusively on environmental matters.

He said the league maintains a network of 16 sampling stations and pointed out the Belle Glade Station consistently shows the highest amount of air pollution in the net.

Going a step further, Wedgworth pointed out that, even using the county's own figures, there has been a more rapid growth in the particulate matter in the air during times the sugar industry hasn't been harvesting (and burning cane) than during the harvesting

Council chief irked; sets record straight

City Council President Wyonia Cummings said Wednesday she wanted to "set the record straight" about criticism of official attendance at a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The president said the criticism appeared in another paper "for two consecutive weeks," adding, "I feel it essential that the truth be printed."

"The story to which the council president referred said, in part: "Clark said all five of the City Council members and Mayor Dun can Padgett had been invited to attend the session, but only Councilman Hatton and the public works director attended the meeting."

"Several of the business people attending the meeting praised Hatton for attending and taking the brunt of the criticism on behalf of the city."

Doug Clark, referred to in the story, "phoned me twelve hours after the meeting and apologized for not inviting me to attend the meeting," Miss Cummings said.

She added that Mr. Clark explained that Mr. Hatton was the only council member invited as he (Hatton) is the council advisor to the Sanitation Department."

Emphasizing her interest in Pahokee's welfare, the Council president declared:

"At no time in the past, or in the future, will I refuse to meet with any citizen or group of citizens to discuss their problems."

The story in the other paper, Miss Cummings concluded, "was unfair and I want the truth to be told to set the record straight."

Swine flu shots set

A two-day program of Swine Flu shots in Pahokee has been scheduled by Palm Beach County Health Department officials.

Immunizations will be given next Wednesday and Thursday at four locations. The schedule is:

Wednesday, noon until 3 p.m., Foodway store; 4:30-7 p.m., Johnson's store. Thursday, noon until 3 p.m., Padgett Island, and 4:30-7:30 p.m., Fremd Village.

Hatton, notified of the accident by telephone, reportedly entered the water and attempted to pry a truck door open to extricate Marshall.

One door of the truck, Hatton told Florida Highway Patrol Harold Murphy, was damaged in the crash and couldn't be opened.

Company officials said Marshall was on his way back from the fields after taking fuel to farm machinery used in harvesting.

Devils ramble 48-0, play here Friday

MIAMI-Pahokee's title driving Blue Devils rambled to a 48-0 win over Westminster Christian here Friday and will face Fort Meade on their home field tomorrow night.

Coach Antoine Russell's speedsters were held scoreless in the first quarter at Tamiami Stadium but literally "tore up the turf" during the last three periods.

Adding to potential disaster for Fort Meade are Coach Russell's repeated reminders to his charges that it was Fort Meade which derailed another Pahokee title express, just three seasons back, in 1973. The loss was by a 3-0 margin on a 28-yard field goal.

The game will be carried by WSWN, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Westminster made one threat and managed the 0-0 first quarter deadlock before Leroy Jackson cut back for 75 yards and Pahokee's first TD. The try for point failed, the first of eight extra point mishaps by the winners.

Leroy Jackson also got the second marker, from three yards out and cut loose for his third TD of the night on a 47 yard run.

Piling it on a completely out-cast Westminster 11, the Blue Devils got two TD's from Roy Freeman, and jaunts of 32 and 75 yards. Rounding out the scoring parade were single junkets by Bernard Jackson, Michael Osborne and Michael Bolden.

Osborne's score came on a 75-yard run following a pass interception, Bernard Jackson crashed in from the eight and Bolding pushed five yards to pay-dirt.

Fort Meade's season record was 9-3, much of it against Class AAA competition.

After building an 18-0 halftime margin, Pahokee scored on its first two running plays of the third period, putting the game on ice.

Two more TD's were marked up before the period ended and the competition at Miami. Billy Cunningham (65) and Bernard Jackson (29) are shown clearing a path for Osborne.

Although the final score made the game appear purely an offensive explosion, the Devil's defensive unit put on an exhibition that will probably keep Westminster awake nights in the future.

While Russell's fired up unit was rushing for 3 yards and adding 46 through the air, the defenders stopped their hosts with less than 100 yards total.

Pahokee also "led" in the penalty column, being assessed 38 yards compared to just 18 for Westminster.

Motorist charged

Charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and leaving the scene of an accident were filed Sunday against a Riviera Beach motorist involved in two crashes.

Investigators identified the driver as Gerald J. Engel, 31. Police said he was injured and admitted to Everglades Memorial Hospital following the second mishap.

The first accident, police said, occurred in Canal Point when Engel's car struck a parked van near the intersection of Canal St. and U.S. 441.

Engel reportedly continued southbound on the federal highway before sideswiping a northbound car in the 800 block of East Main Street in Pahokee.

The car, according to police, was driven by Maggie Harrison of Bryant and carried the driver and five passengers. All escaped injury.

Pahokee FD OK'd as main base

PAHOKEE-Pahokee Fire Department has received Federal Communications Commission approval to operate a marine base radio station for emergency use in the Lake Okechobee area.

Chief Cecil Phillips said the marine station began operating Tuesday and will provide 24-hour coverage of the lake vicinity.

Phillips and Asst. Chief Danny

Denton are the approved operators.

The marine base will be in addition to around-the-clock monitoring of CB Channel 9, Phillips said.

Receipt of FCC approval for the marine unit climaxed several months of preparation, Phillips said, and "we consider it a big step forward for the Pahokee Fire Department."

Phillips, Denton and the 10 volunteers "want to make Pahokee and this entire community as safe as we possibly can," the chief declared.

"We have received good cooperation from the federal government in obtaining this marine base station, which is an expansion and improvement for Pahokee's Fire Department," Phillips said.

Installation of the unlimited class marine station means it will provide full-time coverage for the area in addition to having direct communications with the Coast Guard, Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and the Florida Highway Patrol.

Phillips cited the case of a fisherman and his family who were stranded on the lake all night recently as the type of incident which can now be prevented.

The fisherman was unable to raise anyone on his CB unit, according to the chief, and was finally rescued along with his family the morning after the motor failed.

Census interviewers due in Pahokee

PAHOKEE-Information about farm work done for pay during the past year, and migratory farm work, will be collected by Census Bureau interviewers in the Pahokee area next week.

Thomas W. McWhirter, Atlanta regional director, said three women will be collecting samples of information starting Monday and continuing through Friday.

The farm work questions are in addition to the information sought regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Census Bureau for labor department officials.

Interviewers who will visit Pahokee area households are Mrs. Doris Rosenberg, Mrs. Betty Gariga and Ms. Selma Leavitt.

The team was Frank Marshall of 1488 Seventh St., the Streamline a driver for Hatton Brothers, Inc., sugar cane and produce firm.

Marshall apparently drowned despite the efforts of Henry Hatton, 19, who plunged into the water attempting to save the 30-year employee of the Hatton firm.

Hatton, according to investigators, was in the farm offices near a bridge over the canal when the truck plunged off the road at about 1:30 p.m. The truck was pulled from the water at 3:45 a.m. by a Glen Carrick wrecker from Pahokee and Marshall's body recovered.

Hatton, notified of the accident by telephone, reportedly entered the water and attempted to pry a truck door open to extricate Marshall.

One door of the truck, Hatton told Florida Highway Patrol Harold Murphy, was damaged in the crash and couldn't be opened.

Everglades Federal plans Clewiston opening soon

A mid-December opening for the Clewiston branch of Everglades Federal has been scheduled, according to the firm's executive vice president and Managing Officer Charles B. Trammel.

The branch office, now under construction in the Sugarland Plaza Shopping Center, will be the "newest branch of the oldest savings and loan association in Palm Beach County."

Trammel has also announced the staff for the branch office. He said Lee L. Cranford will assume the duties of branch manager and the staff will be comprised of two Clewiston women, Mrs. Mary Deitz and Mrs. Donna Roland.

Cranford has been a resident of the Glades since 1958. He first became associated with Everglades Federal in the loan department in 1962.

He served as interim managing officer of the institution after the death of Richard Poston in the spring of 1975 and said he is looking forward to the opening of the branch.

"We will be very happy to be in Clewiston and are asking residents to come by and see our facilities," said Cranford. "It is our intent to work closely with the people of the Western Glades Area."

Mrs. Deitz has spent most of her life in Clewiston and she is the mother of three children, Mark, Miles and Chris.

She is experienced in bookkeeping and worked for a savings and loan office for two years before joining Everglades Federal.

In the branch office, she will handle the duties of teller for both the office and drive-in window.

"Donna and I have been trained to be interchangeable and we are both familiar with each other's duties," said Mrs. Deitz.

Mrs. Roland, a newlywed of five months, has lived in Clewiston for five months. Her husband, Ron, is the manager of Finance America in Clewiston.

She is a native of Jacksonville who lived in Hollywood for eight years before coming to Clewiston. She worked in a savings and loan office in Lighthouse Point for three years and at Everglades Federal, she will be associated with the savings and loan department.

"We are all looking forward to serving our friends and neighbors in Clewiston after we open and are really excited about the new office," she said.

Everglades Federal was founded in 1933 and its main offices are located in Belle Glade at 125 North Main Street.

The institution's financial statement lists total assets in excess of $50,000,000 with a 12% growth rate in those assets.

The branch office will hold its grand opening in mid-January and Trammel noted that savings are insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and institution of the United States Government.

Harry T. Vaughn, Jr., executive vice president of U.S. Sugar is one of the directors of Everglades Federal.

Sugar plan remains

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday refused to hear arguments that federal labor policies are costing Americans jobs in Florida's sugarcane fields.

The justices let stand a ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal that domestic workers are not deprived of jobs or their right to work by the sugar industry that imports about 8,500 temporary immigrants each harvesting season.

Andrew Williams, a Palm Beach County resident, said he wanted to work in the sugarcane fields but that immigrant labor allowed sugar growers to keep salaries too low. He sued several U.S. officials, claiming they were not enforcing the Immigration and Nationality Act.

The act permits aliens to serve as temporary agricultural labor if domestic workers are not available and it can be proved that their presence will not depress the wages of domestic laborers.

Employers of the aliens are required to prove that Americans were offered the jobs first and to hire Americans wanting to work and qualified even after the temporary foreign workers have been employed.

According to Don Walsh of the Florida Sugar Cane League, a major advertising campaign which cost sugarcane growers an estimated $68,000 in Florida attracted several hundred American workers to the Glades area last year.

Upon arriving, many workers failed to pass physical examinations and some refused to work after developing an understanding of the work involved. None of the American workers lasted more than two weeks in the sugarcane fields, Walsh said.

Williams contended in his suit that government officials set the minimum wage sugar growers can pay aliens, almost all of them from the West Indies, at a level that could not attract American workers. The guaranteed hourly wage for the 1976-76 winter harvest season was $2.84, paid in addition to free housing.

The Florida Sugar Cane League, an intervenor in the case, told the high court that the government-guaranteed wage is higher than other Florida farmworkers receive, including citrus workers.

Xi Alpha Mu Christmas Party

Members of Xi Alpha Mu will hold their Christmas party at 7 p.m., Dec. 16, in the home of Beth and Harold Wilkinson.

The party will climax two weeks which include two local sessions and one event for sorority city council members.

A business meeting was held Dec. 2 in Dr. Ernest C. Johnson's office with Ethel Johnson as hostess.

The scholarship committee was asked to notify Pahokee area school that the Corneille Chase scholarship will be available to graduates from both Pahokee and Canal Point.

The next sorority city council meeting will be at 4:30 p.m., Dec. 14, at Everglades Federal. Any sorority member is invited to attend. Kay Sears is the representative for Xi Alpha Mu.

Eva Spooner presented the program on music, tracing its development from early times to the present.

Holiday decorations set

Award categories have been announced for Pahokee's annual Christmas decoration contest, co-sponsored by the Garden Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Four categories in the residential division will be judged, including best children's theme, most "original" decorations, best religious theme and best decorated entranceway. For business houses, judging will be for the most outstanding decorations which may include merchandise.

Contest officials said decorations should be completed by Dec. 20, and displayed nightly until 9 p.m. Winners will be chosen by out-of-town judges and prizes in each category will receive a trophy. Honorable mention winners will receive certificates.

To aid judging, residents wishing to enter the contest have been asked to give their names and address to the Chamber of Commerce by calling 924-5579.

Social Side

Eastern Star Thanksgiving dinner

PAHOKEE-Thanksgiving dinner was provided for two needy Pahokee families by members of Marie McKelvin Chapter No. 215, Order of the Eastern Star.

The baskets, worthy Matron Annie Mae Moore said, were delivered to the families early Thanksgiving morning.

Chairman of the project was Dorothy Cody, aided by Coreen Field, Thomas Marvin, Mrs. Moore and Betty Blanding.

Garden Club director

Mrs. Jess Elliott of District 10, director of Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, was luncheon guest at the Lake Park Garden Club, Wed. Dec. 1st.

Mrs. Elliott explained the Land Trust fund, in which the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs helps sponsor a program to purchase endangered areas.

Xi Zeta Mu meets

BELLE GLADE-Members of Xi Zeta Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Nov. 22 at the home of Mrs. James Chamblée.

Mrs. Wayne Bair served as co-hostess for the meeting and Mrs. Tom Swager presented the program, entitled, "Conversation." As a service project, the group will be donating money to the ARC (Association of Retarded Citizens) program for installation of carpet for their building.

Members attending were Mrs. Gordon Corbin, Mrs. Gene Efinger, Mrs. J.D. Lee III, Mrs. O.E. Shackelford, Mrs. Chamblée, Mrs. Bair and Mrs. Swager.

Beta Sigma Phi members attend Miami meeting

BELLE GLADE-The Glades were well represented at the South Florida Beta Sigma Phi Area Luncheon held Nov. 13 at the Marco Polo Hotel in Miami Beach. Each chapter president in attendance was honored with a yellow rose and each member present was presented a hand-engraved Beta Sigma Phi glass.

Belle Glade members attending were Mrs. Edward Rongio of Nu Kappa, Mrs. Cecil Conley of Iota Alpha, Mrs. J.D. Lee III, Mrs. Wayne Bair and Mrs. Tom Swager of Xi Zeta Mu.

Swine Flu shots

BELLE GLADE-Glades residents who haven't taken advantage of other opportunities to get their swine flu immunizations still have a chance anytime through Dec. 17 at the Palm Beach County Health Department unit at 1024 N.W. Ave. D.

Mrs. Jody Damiti, coordinator of the immunization program in the Glades, said local residents may get the shots from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. at the local health unit. Mrs. Damiti said 40 volunteers have assisted in giving immunizations to approximately 1,200 people in the western part of the county since they were first made available on Oct. 28.

She said she has been informed a nurse will also be giving immunizations at a later time in South Bay and Pahokee but she doesn't at this time have a schedule for those shots.

The immunizations are free and Mrs. Damiti recommended that everybody over 18 years of age receive them. Persons between the ages of 18 and 24 should receive a second dose at the appropriate time at least four weeks after the first dose.

This applies to both normal and high risk persons, Mrs. Damiti said. High risk persons are those persons receiving medication for high blood pressure, heart problems or diabetes.

No immunization of normal infants and children less than three years old is recommended at this time. No systematic and community-wide programs for swine flu immunization of normal children and adolescents 8-17 years of age is recommended.

Pahokee Personals

Lake W. Coleman, of Mt. Dora, came to Pahokee Wednesday, Nov. 24, to take his mother, Mrs. Mamie Mock, to his home for the Thanksgiving holiday. While there, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Mock visited friends in Mt. Dora and Orlando.

PAHOKEE-Mayor and Mrs. Duncan Padgett's Thanksgiving Day was indeed a blessing in having all their sons and daughter-in-laws at home for the holiday.

Rev. and Mrs. Donald Padgett, and their son, John, were here from Light House; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Padgett, and their son, Jimmy, from Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garcia, Jr., and their son David, from Tampa; grand-daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Federo and their children, Laura, Bobbie and Rachelle, also from Tampa; and grand daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reeves visited from Boca Raton. Also numerous friends stopped in throughout the day.

Those attending a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Todd in Pahokee were children and members of their families.

Guest included Mr. and Mrs. Roland Todd Sr., and Don; Mrs. Sheila Myer and son, Todd Harvey; Mr. and Mrs. Basil Todd, Margate; Mr. and Mrs. Rod Letteller and daughter, Kristina, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Todd, Jr., and son, Charles, Yacht and Shelton of Lakeland.

A surprise birthday luncheon was given for Charles Modecki on Tuesday, by his office staff, at the Belle Glade Country Club.

Modecki, who is assistant secretary treasurer of Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative in Belle Glade also serves as comptroller and office manager at the local sugar mill.

Approximately 30 members of his office staff were present and also in attendance from Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative were William J. Miller, vice president, and general manager, Enrique Arias, vice president in charge of planning, and Peter M. McIntyre, agricultural division manager.

Modecki was presented during the luncheon with a cake decorated with a well endowed bikini clad figure.

Waterway display exhibition set

A preliminary exhibition of the Okeechobee Waterway Landscape Show scheduled the first two weeks in January has been postponed.

Marjorie-Laks, Pahokee exhibition coordinator, said the show has been postponed until the latter part of February. Exact dates are expected to be announced in the near future.

Mrs. Laks said the Pahokee showing had been scheduled the first two weeks in January in Loula V. York Memorial Library.

Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Helvey, 227 Parkview Court, included their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Helvey of Eglin with their daughter, Nickie.

Also spending the holidays with her parents was Miss Theresa Helvey of Middleton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Helvey and daughter arrived Wednesday, returning to Eglin on Sunday, while Miss Helvey arrived Thursday, and also departed Sunday.

Audubon Society to meet

Lake Okeechobee Audubon Society members will hold their December meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Methodist Church at Clewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Price, II

Miss Elizabeth Bussey marries John Price in PB Gardens

Elizabeth Ivy Bussey, formerly of Belle Glade, and John Henry Price II were united in marriage Nov. 27 at Trinity United Methodist Church, Palm Beach Gardens, with the Rev. Frank Edwards officiating at the doubling ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Bussey of Palm Beach Gardens and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Price of Newberry, Ala.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Eileen Goodwin, organist, and Mrs. Linda Roelands, soloist, who sang "Follow Me" and "Wedding Song."

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Jennilee Threlkeld of Belle Glade. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cindy Hartz of Belle Glade, Nancy Kelly of West Palm Beach and Susan Moses of Troy, Ala.

Attendants were dressed in rust quinn's gowns fashions with ruffled collars that formed short sleeves. Their bouquets were yellow and bronze mums, baby's breath and dried marguerites with yellow streamers.

Miss Tammy Gann served as flower girl. She wore a beige dress with rust and brown flowers fastened like the bridesmaids. Her white wicker basket held yellow and bronze mums with yellow streamers. She wore a circlet of white carnations and baby's breath in her hair.

The groom chose his father as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Steve Banks and Steve Colley of Troy, Ala., David Feibelman of Fort Pierce and Mark Shope of Dothan, Ala. Jimmy Gann served as ring bearer.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza undraped with taffeta. The empire bodice was tucked and adorned with bouquets of Schiffli lace. The high neck, sleeve cuffs and hemline were also adorned with Schiffli lace. She wore a face-framing matching lace headpiece attached to a fingertip length sheer illusion veil. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses, narcissus, stephanotis and English Ivy showered with baby's breath.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of sea-foam green Quiana. Her corsage was White cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother chose a peach floor-length gown fashioned with chiffon sleeves and satin trim. Her corsage was a white cymbidium orchid.

Grandparents of the couple in attendance at the ceremony were Mrs. P.W. Bussey of Cairo, Ga., Mrs. WGH. Campbell of Camilla, Ga., Mrs. Johnny Price, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Kirkland of Newville, Ala.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Nora Bussey, sister-in-law of the bride, greeted the guests and presided over the bride's book. Assisting in the serving were Mrs. Neil Strickland of Atlanta, and Mrs. James Hill of Cochran, Ga., aunts of the bride.

At the cake table were Mrs. Richard Shoemaker and Mrs. Paul Grindstaff of Belle Glade. Presiding at the punch tables were Mrs. August Kirchman and Mrs. Joseph Osenigo of Belle Glade. Miss Karen Shelley of Hoadland, Sue Hill, of Cochran, Kathy Strickland of Atlanta and Ann Reynolds of Charlotte, N.C., cousins of the bride, also served.

For her going-away, Mrs. Price chose a navy blue gaucho suit with red and white silk scarf and blouse. A red felt hat completed her outfit.

After a trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the couple will be at home in Troy, Ala.

Christmas decorating contest in Belle Glade

Local residents have a chance to win any one of three awards in four categories on Dec. 20 when winners are picked in the 10th Annual Christmas Home and Business Decorating Contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Cosponsoring the contest, usual, will be the Belle Glade Garden Clubs, whose members will be judging the entries from 6 p.m. Dec. 20.

Chamber Executive Secretary Jewel Crane said the deadline for all persons entering the contest will be Friday, Dec. 17 at 6 p.m.

"Due to the inflated cost of electricity," Mrs. Crane said, "winners will not be judged on the Christmas lighting but will be judged on artistic ability and originality." There will be entry fee.

The four categories displays can be entered in included the B Overall Religious, the B Overall Non-Religious, the B Overall Business and the B Original.

Anyone wishing to enter can register by calling the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce at 996-27 or 996-2252.

Christian Day wins 44-21 over Berean Christian

The Christian Day School Crusaders came back from Friday night defeat at the hands of Fort Myers Canterbury to post their first victory of the year on Saturday night, a 44-21 triumph over Berean Christian.

On Friday night the Crusaders traveled to Fort Myers and came out on the short end of a 52-40 score. After a close ball game for 2 1/4 quarters Canterbury moved ahead to stay when starters for CDS fouled out in the third period.

With Alan Bowen and Mike Graham in early foul trouble the Cougars moved to a six point advantage in the second period. With Bowen and Graham in the game beginning the second period, the Crusaders again played tough until Bowen fouled out in the third period. With Bowen out, Canterbury's Tim Burti scored at 11:00, ending the game with 27 points.

Leading scorer for the Crusaders was Ken Warren with 12 points. Mike Graham and Alan Bowen scored 10 and eight points before fouling out.

"We were definitely hurt by the foul trouble," Coach Mike Sullivan said, "and our bench is very weak at this point in the season. We played well at times for an opening ball game but we didn't contain Burti and we didn't run our offense very well."

On Saturday night, the Crusaders journeyed to Riviera Beach to play Berean and came away with a 44-21 victory. Taking an early lead and never being pressed, the Crusaders cruised to a 32-8 half time lead. With substitutes finishing up the game, the Crusaders outscored Berean in the second half, 15-13 for the final 44-21 score.

"It was a good game for us."

Sullivan said, "as we do not have many easy ones. The younger boys at a lot of playing time and we worked on a lot of things under game conditions."

The leading scorer for Christian Day for the second night in a row was Ken Warren with 18 points. Mike Graham followed with seven points, Alan Bowen with 10, Tim Atkins with six, Luis Cisneros with five and Bill Taylor and Drew Cobb with two each.

Wind, rain hamper fishing

The wind and rain in the Belle Glade area hampered fishing during the past week, according to Nan Corbin of Slim's Fish Camp. "The only complaints came from Floridians. Those fishermen from the northern states had left much worse weather at home and a few heavy souls did manage to bring in nice catches during the week on both live and artificial baits."

On Monday morning, Tony and Chuck Yetto of Fort Lauderdale used live bait to take six bass up to 4 1/2 pounds each. Tony, Chuck and Joe Yetto returned on Sunday and took ten bass this time in the two to four pound size and two pike using live bait.

Michigan fisherman Tex Ryan returned to Belle Glade last week to spend the winter. Tex reported eight bass on Thursday and seven on Friday with his largest going 7 1/4 pounds, using live bait.

Rick Garrett of Fort Lauderdale reported six bass up to 6 1/2 pounds on Saturday.

Lee Arden of Fort Lauderdale limited out on Specks on Saturday afternoon late.

Clifford Pearce of Fort Lauderdale used a Rapala to take eight nice bass on Saturday.

Twelve year old Mike Majba of Belle Glade used a live minnow to catch a 3 1/2 pound bass and a 3 1/4 pound speck on Saturday.

Ruben Brunson and Ralph White of Miami reported 100 specks on minnows Saturday.

Wayne Packard and Tim Land of Hollywood reported 15 large specks using minnows on Saturday. One of their catch weighed in at two pounds.

Ray Brewer of Belle Glade fished on Sunday with shiners and took five bass in the three to five pound size.

J. Wade of Cleveland, Miss., took his black plastic worm out of the pepper grass beds on Saturday in hopes of that record breaking bass and returned with a baby raccoon. This was probably the most unusual catch of the week.

Bowling news...

MERRY MIX-UPS:

The distaff side did very well, with Rose Goodbread rolling a 210, Harriet Stroupe hitting 195, and Peggy Chavis totalling 195. Jim Stroupe had a fine 557 series, while Curt Barton rolled a 198 game.

EARLY HERDS:

Lillie Howell had a 178 and Marty Crawford totalled 459 for high game and high series respectively.

LAKE LEAGUE:

Tim Atkinson earned a Century Patch with his 256 game (122 pins over his average-terrific!). Al Grooms hit 234 and had a 582 set, which is fine for a 188 average. Bill Manning bowled steadily for 580. Harvey Lemons found the line with 245, 247 and 680 series. GLADES CLASSIC:

High game for the night, 220, was bowled by Byron Walker and Willie Lee; Lee also had rolled a nice 207. Marty Crawford had women's high series of the evening at 486, but June Lemons managed high game with a 184.

GLADETTES:

Honors for high set and game go to Rin Shuuts with her great 204 and 596. Evelyn McKee also bowled well, having a 189 game and series of 493. Pat Snyder did fine with a 483 total.

TRIANGLE MASTERS:

Junior title's 214 was high game this week. Harvey Lemons rolled a 772 series, followed closely by Nick Collins, who scored 765. Marty Crawford rolled a 190 and finished with a 65.9 set. This league bowls 4-game sets.

LAKE ROADRUNNERS:

Dora Belcher rolled a 192 and a 482 total getting high game and series of the morning. Kathy Belcher hit 181.

MUCK:

Charles Sweet had a 173 (60 pins over average) and his 452 series was plus 113 pins—very good! Glenn Campbell earned a Triplicate Patch, having 3 identical games of 176. Eddie Bowtell was sure and steady, finishing with a 555 set. Cecil Kelly was +69 with a 214 game; Jim Beiersdorfer +60 with his 195; Jerry Fortney +50 with a 201; Charlie Bishop +62, having a 202. Jerry Hulcomb scored a fine 571 with a 214 game.

RAIDERS:

A.J.L.C. leaders of the day were Nancy Miller (146-391) and Arny Allen (208-451), but Russell Carner had a nice 150. On the A.B.C. side, Darren Lumpkin rolled 189 game topped by a 205 shot by Robert ("Red") Ropleigh who in turn was bested by Sonny Willis who scored 215-546.

TRIANGLE JUNIORS:

Scores not available—sorry.

SOUTH HAY-Cattlemen from all over Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, along with a few from Texas, will be on hand at the Big B Ranch south of here on US 27 this weekend for a meeting of the Florida Santa Gertrudis Association.

Dr. Diego Jimenez, assistant of Big B General Manager Alvaro Sanchez, said he expects some 80 guests at the ranch for the meeting, which will begin with a cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. Friday and wind up with a bar-que at noon Saturday.

Sanwiched in between will be a dinner party Friday night, with a guest list including Florida Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner, Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Chairman Dr. Cecil Conley and his wife, the Santa Gertrudis Association board of directors and some of the Texas owners of the Big B.

The association will hold their business meeting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and take part in a field day and tour of the Big B Ranch later in the morning.

U.S. Army, Germany (AHTNC) Nov. 24-Army Private First Class Robert L. Holmes, son of Isaac Ellington, 638 Rardin Ave., Pahokee, Fla., recently was assigned as a supply clerk with the 2nd Support command in Germany.

Setting the record straight...

Citizens of Pahokee:

Having been criticized in a local printing for two consecutive weeks, I feel it essential that the truth be printed. The criticism stems from a meeting held by Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Merchants Division concerning new commercial garbage rates. The local publication stated:

"Clark said all five of the City Council members and Mayor Duncan Padgett had been invited to attend the session but only Councilman Hatton and the Public Works Director attended the meeting. "Several of the business people attending the meeting praised Hatton for attending and taking the brunt of the criticism on behalf of the city."

Mr. Clark phoned me twelve hours after the meeting and apologized for not inviting me to attend the meeting. Mr. Clark explained that Mr. Hatton was the only Council member invited due to the fact that Mr. Hatton is the Council advisor to the Sanitation Department. At no time in the past, nor will I in the future refuse to meet with any citizen or group of citizens to discuss their problems.

Yours truly,
WYONIA L. CUMMINGS

Here in South Florida, besides our citrus, we are known for our beautiful palms which decorate almost every landscape. Since palms are a dominant part of our landscaping in Florida, many people like to put in many varieties of palms, but many times do not have the necessary information handed as to the characteristics of growth of some of the major palms.

Palms come in all sizes and shapes and many of them grow to quite large heights and really are not suited for small dooryard situations. Others are very dwarfed and small and in addition to outside uses may also provide interior decoration to the home.

Most nurseries that sell palms carry a limited selection, but the person who is interested in finding unusual palms can with a little searching find nurseries that cater to the more unusual types or ones used for special effects.

Palms in the landscape can be used as single specimens or in the case of the clump forming types used for a screen effect and of course, palms have been used for many years as street plantings and patio trees. Some of the palms which are typically used in dooryard landscaping include the following.

Large palms - Royal Palm Coconut Palm, Washington Palm and Sabal Palm. Most of these palms will grow from 50 to 100 feet and are tolerant of most of the soils common in Florida.

Medium-size palms - Areca, Chinese Fan Palm, McArthur Palm, Queen Palm and Pauritis Palm. Of this group Areca and Pauritis are probably used more frequently since they form dense clumps which are useful for screening effects or for corner plantings of large buildings. This group of palms also is adaptable to most of our soils and they grow with a minimum of care.

For persons with small areas for growing palms, some of the following would be suited - Butia Palm, Lady Palm, European Fan Palm, Needle Palm, Saw Palmetto and your Janasias Thatch Palm. Most of this group, except the Butia Palm, have fan-shaped foliage and rarely exceed 20 feet with six to eight feet being the most common average height. Most of these will form clumps and they are excellent for small areas where larger palms would outgrow the situation.

Most of your palms need to be fed regularly in order to keep them in their best condition. Most garden stores have fertilizers available made for palms and these can be applied at three to four month intervals to keep the plant growing vigorously.

Most palms will grow in fairly moist soils but few of them like wet feet for extended periods of time so make sure that the area where they are placed in the landscape is not prone to extended periods of flooding.

Insects and diseases of palms are not very significant and usually very little application of insecticides or fungicides is necessary. If insects do become a problem usually it is scale insects that provide most of the trouble. Occasionally bud rots caused by various types of fungus will invade the palms and if noticed in time treatments with copper fungicide will save the palm from being killed.

Information on palm care can be obtained at local County Extension Offices and there is a wide selection of books on the care of palms available at most book stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Walden

Miss Penny Resmondo marries Jerry Walden in Lyons, Georgia

Miss Penny Sue Resmondo, formerly of Belle Glade and now of Lyons, Ga., was wed to Jerry Dale Walden of Lyons Sept. 11 in a double ring ceremony in the Lyons Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Charles E. Vandevender officiating.

Miss Resmondo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Resmondo. The groom is the son of Mrs. Dora Lee Walden of Belle Glade.

The best man was Gary Resmondo, brother of the bride. The maid of honor was Ingrid Pope, sister of the bride and the bridesmaid was Keta Walden, sister of the groom. All three are residents of Lyons.

The usher was Danny Graham of Lyons.

The church was decorated with palms, two seven candle candelabra, entwined with plumose, fern and two baskets of fall flowers, one on each side of the pulpit.

A musical program was provided by organist Mrs. Charles Davis, who played a program of nuptial music.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory silk organza styled with an empire bodice and high neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace. The long tapered sleeves were of chantilly lace and had a small ruffle at the wrist. The full skirt was fashioned with a ruffle apron effect and flowed into a long train which had a ruffle hemline. She wore a picture hat of Chantilly lace trimmed with French illusion that flowed down the back.

She carried a crescent bouquet of Japhet orchids, stephanotis and trailing sprengei.

The maid of honor wore a beige floor length dress with a sheer jacket of water colored fall hues of rust, beige and green and tying at the waist to form a peplum. She wore a beige picture hat and carried a cascade of bronze and yellow mums, orange silk carnations and trailing sprengei.

The bridesmaid was dressed the same as the maid of honor. The bride's mother wore a mint green knit floor length dress accented by a long sleeve jacket. She wore a corsage of white rosebuds.

The groom's mother wore a peach knit floor length dress accented by a long sleeve jacket and a corsage of white rosebuds.

A reception was held at the Vidalia Elks Club. Mrs. Frank Resmondo, Mrs. R. K. Resmondo and Miss Paula Ward assisted.

The bride's table was decorated with an arrangement of bronze, yellow and white mums, silk carnations, talisman roses and baby's breath. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated in yellow, orange and bronze flowers with green leaves. The top tier was adorned with white silk bells and silk doves. The groom's cake was chocolate topped with "The Reluctant Bridegroom".

The buffet table was decorated with an arrangement of bronze, yellow and white mums, talisman roses, silk carnations, "baby's breath" and green fern accented by six candles.

Champagne, punch, nuts and mints were also served. The food was catered by the Elks Club.

The wedding trip was to Atlanta and Tennessee. The couple are now making their home in Lyons. The bride's traveling outfit was a long dress of a printed polyester with long sleeves. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet.

Guests were present from Miami, West Palm Beach and Tennessee.

Santa to visit

Great news for children up to 8 years old, and all others who believe in Santa Claus have been made for Santa Claus to visit The Belle Glade Municipal Library on Saturday, December 11, and again on Saturday, December 18. Any time between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. on these Saturdays, Santa will be glad to talk to his friends.

Bring your children to your public library for this event, which will follow the regular Saturday Film Hour from 1-2 p.m.

Science Fair seeking help

BELLE GLADE-H.W. "Dick" Berryman, superintendent of education in the west area of Palm Beach County said Tuesday he is already soliciting the support of clubs, organizations and industries throughout the county for the Region Eleven Science Fair.

Berryman, who also coordinated the fair last year, said it will take place March 24-27 of next year at the Palm Beach Mall and is open to public, private and parochial schools throughout Palm Beach County.

Berryman said various industries and agencies throughout the county offer donations which are used to pay expenses, buy trophies and pay for awards to winners.

Rainfall deficit now 17 in.

With only December left to go, the rainfall deficit in the Glades climbed to almost 17 inches for the year, according to C. R. Wilcoxson of the Agriculture Research and Education Center here.

Wilcoxson reported a 0.36 inch deficit for the month of November, bringing the year's rainfall deficit to 16.96 inches.

He said 2.02 inches falls in November on the average but 1.66 inches fell last month, bringing the year's total rainfall to 38.46 inches compared to the 52 year average of 55.94 inches.

Recycling unit in Pahokee

Reynolds Aluminum Company's mobile recycling unit will make the first of its two December stops in Pahokee from 2:30 p.m. today. The second visit will be December 23.

Dave Vardell, Reynolds district manager, said, "Last month citizens of the Pahokee area brought 3,822 pounds of aluminum to the recycling unit. For their efforts, they received $543.30."

The public will receive 15 cents a pound for clean, household aluminum taken to the Little League Ball Park on Bacon Point Road.

According to Richard N. Bolling, general manager of Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company, collections during the first nine months of 1976 almost equaled total collections for all of 1975.

He said a record 84 million pounds of aluminum was recycled through September, compared to 86 million pounds during the entire previous year.

There are a total of 11 categories in two divisions, junior and senior high schools. Awards are given to each individual winner and each winning school in a given category.

"The Science Fair" Berryman said, not only provides the students an opportunity to display their efforts on the local level, but to participate in the Florida State Science and Engineering Fair, the Florida State Science Talent Search and the International Science and Fair.

"It also gives them evidence," he went on, "of the interest of the business and professional community in their endeavors."

Berryman said the 22 winners in the 11 categories and two divisions at the regional fair will be sent to the Florida state-wide fair in Fort Pierce, which will take place April 27-30 and about 10-12 of the winners statewide will be taken to Cleveland in May for the international fair.

"This is a very significant part of the student activity," he said. "It provides an outlet to do research at home and at school, put together an exhibit and gives the student a chance to choose how to express himself."

Berryman pointed out a gifted student can also find out how he compares to gifted students from other parts of the region and state and puts him in the milieu outside his own high school.

In the talent search part of the fair, a student gets a chance to write a paper on a subject of his choice in natural and physical, or even pure, science and then defend the paper in front of judges.

The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce has for the last three years sponsored trophies in the field of agriculture. Glades Central holds the current award for senior high schools.

"The material rewards aren't all that great at the regional level," Berryman said, "but the higher they go, the more they have a chance to win. At the international level, several national corporations sponsor a number of four-year scholarships."

City must spend $52,000 soon

BELLE GLADE—City Commissioners found in a workshop session Monday night they now have one of the more pleasant problems they've had to cope with in recent months.

The city has to spend $52,000 in federal funds within the next six months in order to receive another windfall of about the same size.

City Manager Robert Sanders and Finance Director Frank Anderson said the unexpected money is in the form of Public Works Bill Title II funds released for the first two quarters of a project to help alleviate unemployment.

The catch is the city besides having to spend it within half a year, is that the city is restricted on what to spend the money on and no one is sure yet what those restrictions are.

Anderson told the commissioners he has a copy of the bill and has a general idea of the restrictions but no administrative policies have been released. He said he expects the city will receive a total of $104,000 to $105,000 in all, spread over four quarters.

The money for the first two quarters came last week in one check.

Two possible uses for the funds would be to pave streets and build sidewalks where needed. The commissioners will discuss the problem again when administrative guidelines are received by the city.

In other business, the commissioners told the city manager to make arrangements to allow the Municipal County Club to be used for closed, private parties at a fee of $50 per hour.

Under the proposed plan, the parties would include no right to use the bar or bar facilities.

Commissioner Tom Altman said he was for the plan on the condition the bar and lounge is screened off from the main dining room.

Tabled any decision on hiring a new city attorney until they have a chance to talk to applicants and discuss fees. Mayor Don Tanner said he would like to find a local attorney to handle the job to end the occasional need to travel to the West Palm Beach area to get a document signed.

Belle Glade Attorneys Frank Kreidler and Michael Miller were contacted by the city and both submitted resumes. Kreidler was at the meeting Tuesday and told the commissioners $200 retainer and $35 per hour fee for outside work would probably be right.

Decided to draw up an ordinance requiring anyone who wants to speak to the commission during regular meetings to contact city clerk or the city administrator on the Thursday preceding the meeting.

The decision came at the request of Mayor Tanner, who said the idea is to prevent the disruption of meetings and the extension of the meetings by interruptions from the audience.

South Bay to build a new city barn

SOUTH BAY—The city commission decided Tuesday night to go ahead with plans to build a new city barn at the water plant to make room for a million gallon water storage facility which will be built where the city barn now stands.

The action came at the suggestion of Public Works Director Lomax Harrelle, who said the water plant is the obvious site for a new city barn since there are two city employees already living there and they could act as a deterrent to vandalism and theft.

The commission tentatively agreed to erect a 40 by 94 foot steel building to house the city's vet supplies. Harrelle said he had contacted one builder who estimated the price of the building at $20,000. "I don't want to mislead you, though," Harrelle said. "That doesn't include the cost of de-mucking and backfilling or building a fence around the area." He estimated the total cost will be approximately $30,000.

In other action, the city commissioners:

Telephone rate increase put in perspective

BELLE GLADE—If and when a recently requested rate increase is granted Southern Bell Telephone Co. by the Florida Public Service Commission, Glades area residents will see an increase in their monthly bills but not the hefty increase new customers will see.

Glades District Manager B. Carlton White said the average base charge to residents in the Glades will be increased from $9.95 a month to $11.05. Options a customer may purchase add to that base rate.

On the other hand, a new customer, or someone who moves in the area and has to pay a connect-disconnect fee, will find himself paying $63.25 instead of the $45 now being charged.

The increases, however, will be some months off in the future if they are granted at all.

There are a number of other increases the telephone company is asking for also, according to White. The base price increase per month for a business would be from $21.20 a month to $29.50 while a commercial connection price will jump from $55 to $74.50.

A residential extension would jump, under the proposed rate increases, from $1.40 to $1.50 while a business extension would go from $2 to $2.20.

White said the company is also asking the PSC for an increase in long distance rates from 10 cents to 25 cents, as well as a 20 cent charge on directory assistance calls after three each month.

Some of the increases, he said, would go to simply paying the costs the company is now incurring.

An example of that is the connection fees. Two years ago, Southern Bell was granted a $30 increase in the connection fees but even then, the labor to affect such a connection was estimated at $60 each. The labor is now costing Southern Bell $63 per connection.

"What's happening now," White said, "is the average customer who doesn't move around very often is subsidizing people who are getting new connections. Why should you subsidize someone who may be moving several times as often as you do?"

White said the increased coin telephone price would represent the first increase in several years. He said this too, because coin telephones are most often used by tourists and travelers, would help hold down residential costs.

He pointed out that the cost of installing a coin telephone today is 600 percent over what it was when the price was increased from a nickel to a dime.

The company asked the PSC two years ago for permission to begin charging for directory assistance calls but was denied that request.

White said he believes the PSC may take a different look at this request now because General Telephone Company in Tampa is already charging for such calls on an experimental basis.

Under the proposal, he said, a customer could make any number of long distance directory assistance calls so long as they are followed up by long distance calls to the number requested.

Southern Bell is asking the PSC for a total increase of $228.5 million in order to raise its expected return to the 8.75 percent return the PSC has said in the past the company is allowed to earn.

J.M. Brown, vice president of Florida for Southern Bell, said the company has been allowed "that return for years but has never been able to realize it, despite its efforts to reduce expenses and investment."

"In the past two years," Brown said, "there has been an $80 million difference between earnings declared reasonable by the commission and the actual earnings of the company."

"This difference," Brown said, "meant that the owners of the business received less than what the commission had declared to be a fair return on their investment. Their loss could not be recovered."

White also pointed out that Southern Bell and its 162,000 shareholders in the state won't be getting the entire increase. "First call on the extra income will go to federal, state and local taxes, followed by uncollectible fees and payments to other telephone companies for carrying long distance calls that go into the territory they serve."

After all that is deducted from the $228.5 million, Southern Bell will be receiving $90.6 million a year.

On the Consumer Side

If you have any questions, please write to Mrs. Lee F. Rumbley, consumer services coordinator, The Division of Consumer Services, Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, The Mayo Building, Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

QUESTION:

Do you have any dollar stretching tips, for this season, besides hiding my credit cards?

ANSWER:

Make a holiday list so you avoid impulse buying. Also many of us buy things for ourselves which we don't need. Shop early to avoid crowds and take advantage of special sales and lower prices in discount stores. Be sure the bargain is really a bargain, however, and make several comparisons before deciding. Shopping early also helps you avoid mistakes and make purchases which you have to return to the store. Limit the amount of money you spend so your budget isn't over extended and pay cash whenever possible. In buying toys for children, remember that cost doesn't affect the toy's appeal to the child—select one which will be interesting to the child. Perhaps you could get your family to agree to draw names for gift giving; many large families do this. If you have the time and talent you can make appropriate presents. Also, cookies, candy or other baked products that you make yourself can be attractively wrapped in a coffee can and are always appreciated. Other things to consider are: don't give clothes unless you are sure of the person's size and preference for style and color; make some of your own holiday decorations; figure the cost of the ribbon and paper before wrapping packages; figure the cost of the ingredients before making such things as fruit cakes and other expensive delicacies; use directional for any long distance phone calls to relatives.

QUESTION:

What are some ways that I can protect myself during holiday shopping trips? I am a new resident and am unfamiliar with stores and shopping centers in this area.

ANSWER:

During the holiday season the "fast buck" artist is more in evidence because people are shopping and spending more money than usual. Holiday shoppers are often in a hurry. You should be on the alert for pickpockets and purse snatchers in crowds. Watch also for mail order rackets, phony charities and door-to-door con artists. Ask for credentials for anyone making appeals for charity or trying to sell anything door-to-door. Check carefully before ordering any gifts through a mail order catalogue and deal only with firms you know to be responsible. Beware of "bait and switch" advertising where something is advertised at a sensationally low price, but when you arrive at the store the salesman tells you that the item is out of stock and tries to sell you a higher priced substitute. This type of advertising is illegal in Florida and should be reported to the Division of Consumer Services. Other precautionary measures include: do not carelessly lay your purse on a counter or leave it in a dressing room while trying on clothes; do not accept any C.O.D. packages for neighbors unless the neighbor has instructed you to do so; the package may contain unordered or valueless merchandise. Always lock your car and don't leave packages where they can be seen, lock them in the trunk. Report deception or fraud immediately to the Division of Consumer Services.

QUESTION:

Does a store have the right to refuse to exchange a Christmas gift?

ANSWER:

Yes, they can refuse to exchange a gift. Merchants are under no legal obligation to exchange gifts refund money or issue credit for merchandise. Each store manager sets the policy for the particular store and it is the consumer's responsibility to inquire about such policies before purchase. Many merchants allow such procedures as a matter of courtesy to customers or to enhance their public relations image, but are under no obligation to do so.

Air crash bodies recovered

THE FIRST THREE OF FOUR bodies recovered from the crash of a twin-engine aircraft in Lake Okechobee Monday lie encased in disaster bags as searchers, family

Belk named at Clewiston airport

Frank Belk was appointed the Clewiston Airport Fixed Base Operator Monday night by the Hendry County Commission in their regular meeting.

Belk, 66, is the brother of Sam

Belk, who operated the Clewiston Airport until his death late last month of a heart attack.

He was manager of the Pahokee Airport until 1968, when he created Belk's Aircraft Service and has operated out of Pahokee ever since.

He began his flying career in 1932, when he took his first ride in an airplane.

Belk is planning no major changes at Clewiston airport and said all obligations made by his brother will be honored by him.

Belk holds an A&E mechanics license and commercial pilot's license with land or sea landing, glider, and flight instructor ratings. He is also a certified aircraft inspector.

THANK YOU

Your thoughtfulness and sympathy in our recent loss will long be remembered. Thank you sincerely for all you did for us during that time.

Vernon Jones and family

"There will be some improvements made in the operation," said Belk. "Things that Sam knew about and was working on."

He noted that Clewiston was one of the very few airports in the country run on a "friendship" basis and a great deal of trust had evolved between Sam, the pilots and people in the community.

Belk, who was born in South Carolina, and his wife have five daughters, three granddaughters, and one grandson.

He is familiar with the operations of Clewiston Airport as he "filled in" for his brother when Sam was away on business or pleasure.

He is inviting all local pilots and friends of Sam to stop by and "have a chat," Belk said he and his brother were very close, but no man can fill another's shoes in the same way, although he can try.

Mt. Zion to hold Annual Men's Day

The Mount Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church of Belle Glade will celebrate its annual Men's Day throughout the day Sunday according to the Rev. Charles Robinson, pastor.

The activities will begin with the Sunday School, beginning at 9:30 a.m., Rev. Robinson said. The morning service will begin at 11 a.m. with Eugene Harrison serving as program chairman.

He said the men of the church and other men of the community will conduct the service throughout the day. Thomas Montgomery

Belle Glade attorney, will be serving as the general chairman this year. Rev. Robinson said Montgomery has worked hard to make this one of the best Men's Days ever.

This is one of two major fund-raising activities sponsored by the church yearly and the goal for this year is $10,000, Rev. Robinson said. "We are going to need the cooperation of all the members of the church and our many friends in Belle Glade if we are to reach our goal."

As customary, a guest speaker has been invited to deliver the annual Men's Day sermon Sunday morning at 11 a.m. The Rev. Robert Von Webster of Jacksonville will be the speaker.

Rev. Webster is a native of Little Rock, Ark., where his father serves as one of the leading Presiding Elders in the 12th Episcopal District. Rev. Webster attended the public schools of Little Rock, then attended Central State University, where he received a B.S. degree in Religious Education.

He then attended the Payne Theological Seminary at Wilberforce University, where he received his BTh degree. He was brought to the Eleventh Episcopal District by the late Bishop S.L. Green Sr. and served as Chaplain of Edward Waters College. He taught religious education and served as the instructor of the Old and New Testaments at the B.F. Lee Seminary in Jacksonville.

It was here that the Rev. Webster had a part in helping to mold the mind of the present pastor of Mt. Zion, Rev. Robinson said, serving as his instructor at Edward Waters College.

Rev. Webster now serves as pastor of the St. Stephens African Methodist Episcopal Church of Jacksonville and has been for five years.

"We are sure that Rev. Webster will have a message for all of Belle Glade," Rev. Robinson said, "for he is a very dynamic person and a preacher's preacher. The men of Mt. Zion wish to take this opportunity to extend an invitation to all of Belle Glade to come and worship with us this Lord's Day."

"We can assure you that you will be richly rewarded and divinely inspired for having done so," he said.

and is survived by his widow, Myrtice Owens; a son, David Owens of Sebastian; a daughter, Miss Ann Graulich of Cocoa and five grandchildren.

Active pall bearers were Joe Revels, David Sullivan, J. V. McLeod, Homer Brooks, Henry Martin and Raymond Godsey.

The services were followed by burial in Port Mayaca Cemetery. Mixon Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Funeral services held for Samuel D. Belk

Funeral services were held at Pattison Funeral Chapel in Clewiston for Samuel D. Belk, 64, who passed away at Hendry General Hospital Thanksgiving Day evening of a heart attack.

A native of Lancaster, South Carolina, Mr. Belk had been a resident of Clewiston for the past nine years where he served as fixed base operator of the Clewiston Municipal Airport. Prior to that time, he was a resident of Pahokee for 18 years where he was associated in airport management, aircraft repair and aerial chemical application with his brother, Frank Mr. Belk was well known in aviation circles having worked in the industry in California during the war years and later in private flying which included charter service, aerial application and as a licensed engine and aircraft mechanic.

He is survived by three brothers, Frank Belk of Pahokee, George Belk of Green Acres, and Clayton Belk of Miami; one sister, Mrs. Joyce Gatliff of Miami; seven nieces and one nephew.

Rev. Bob Lynch and Rev. Bob Shelly officiated at the services. Active pallbearers were Johnny Johnson, Ernest Hall, John Fields, Lonnie Norris, Leon Underwood, and Dr. H.W. Shupe.

Interment was in Ridgeway Cemetery with Pattison Funeral Home in charge.

Local man held in shooting

BELLE GLADE—A local man was being held in the Palm Beach County Jail Tuesday in connection with the shooting death of another city man.

Being held without bond on charges of murder in the first degree was Jacquies Louis, 31, of 609 S.W. Fifth St. He was being charged with shooting to death James Clemion, 28, of 576 S.W. Fifth St. at Louis residence.

Belle Glade Police Lt. George Farnall said only that the victim apparently went to Louis' apartment, the two "had words" and Louis apparently shot Clemion once in the upper chest.

Sounds of Prophecy to appear in concert

The Sounds of Prophecy, Sunday, recording artists, of Ft. Myers will be appearing at the Church of God of Prophecy, 600 West Avenue "A", Belle Glade at 7:30 a.m.

Pastor Maurice E. DeVeaux of The Church of God of Prophecy invites the public to come and enjoy the inspirational singing of this group.

PROTECTION FROM THE ELEMENTS

It has been said in the Lone Star State that there is nothing between Texas and the North Pole but a barbed wire fence. That certainly gives you the idea that in Texas you're not given much protection from the cold North wind.

There are times when you might think there is no protection and comfort afforded from the hardness and cruelty of the world. But there is a buffer between you and the world. This help and protection is the church. As members of the church, you are with good people of like minds who love you, pray with you, comfort you and assist you. They are the ones who "by love serve one another" (Gal. 5:13).

We invite you to attend the church of your choice this week. You will find a warm welcome there.

"And this commandment we have from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."

1 John 4:21

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

It's about time!

And the first shall be last...or is it the last shall be first? At any rate, the first contract bids for four-laning Bloody 27, or Blood Alley is it's sometimes known, were opened a couple of weeks ago. Now all we have to do is wait around for nine or ten years and maybe...just maybe, we'll finally have a four-laned highway down to Miami.

In the meantime, a defensive driving course and a plaster Jesus on your dash probably wouldn't be out of order. We don't know if anyone's made an estimate of the number of deaths which will probably take place in the meantime because some idiot tries to pass a truck when the fog is soaked in those narrow two lanes of calculated risk with no safety valves but there's bound to be more than one or two.

It would probably have to be a tossup which is the most dangerous road to drive in the Glades, U.S. 27 or Killer 80. As they both stand at the present time, neither is much fun to drive unless one has a death wish.

The road surface on both highways aren't the best in the world but that's the least of your worries if you're tooling between Belle Glade and West Palm Beach or South Bay and Miami.

The worst thing about those roads is that when you suddenly find yourself, facing a tractor-trailer rig the approximate size of a house hurtling straight at you in your own lane, and a Greyhound Bus taking up the other lane, there is nowhere to go.

It was bad enough before the guard rails were installed along the canals. Then there was the option of colliding with the Mack or taking an unexpected cold bath in 40 or 50 feet of water.

The guard rails took that option away, though. Try to take that bath now and all you get for your troubles is a bounce back into the other lane. Course there's always the possibility of running off the cliff on the other side of the road.

Well, we're in for better things now. What with four-lane construction going on for both roads in the near future, that may be the well-known light at the end of the tunnel. Just don't hold your breath.

Voice from the Wilderness

By Andy Campanaro

I've had it. Blown up, shot my back, fed up to here with being bled as some kind of foreign, big-eyed foreigner just because it was fortunate to be born and missed in the Adirondack Mountains of New York state.

As Cracker Crumb pointed out last week, the nation is on a hysterical "Southern mystique" binge, what with Jimmy, Jody, Grits and Fritz. But that just don't make a southerner any better by nature than my brand of Yankee, which by the way is known by the New York city crowd as a mountain-man.

My Uncle Billy can out-shoot, out-fox, out-fish and out-fight any Cracker I've ever seen (note I capitalize the C in "cracker" with respectful reverence). As this newspapers' token Yankee, I think it's high time I painted a truthful picture of how many of us live.

Uncle Billy and Aunt Ronnie have 10 acres of prime hillcock land on the banks of the Schroon River in Warren County. Bill works for 20 weeks a year on the county road system and plays great white hunter, bear-consumer of the year, and ice fisherman the rest of the year, buoyed along by Uncle Nelson Rockefeller's Great Social-ist Plan and my aunt's home bottling system.

Bill shoots some 25-30 deer in the season and a fledgling of those and other creatures out of season. He skins, salts and sacks the meat, putting it in a natural ice cave on his land that keeps it eatin' fresh year-around. Ronnie raises her own greens, potatoes, corn and tomatoes in that ultra-short growing season and in the very rocky police-prone soil of the mountains. She cans everything and fills up a small dirt-floor warehouse with goods, leaving the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store alone for most of the winter.

Cracker Crumb says southerners are special because they're close to the soil. True, but there's a rather large area called the mid-west plain area that raises a few vegetables. Seems they sell a bushel or two to Russia and Europe, plus feed a few hundred million people in this country and Canada.

We're in the mountains and Hudson valley of New York do all right, providing the whole blasted city area of New York, Buffalo, Rochester, Utica-Rome, and Albany-Schenectady-Troy with fresh beef, hogs and dairy products.

In the Hudson Mohawk valley, a new industry has boomed the past 15 years call New York State wine. Seems to be taking second place next to California wine in the stores of the nation.

Close to the land? I lived in a hamlet that was so small we didn't even have a village idiot. Everybody took his turn. One townsman put up a trailer on his land, tied it down and then bought the zoning code because 10 feet of it stuck out into the county.

I remember when I was hunting with Bill one fall, he shot a mallard on the south side of town. Before it had hit earth, that duck flew over the entire settlement, defecated on the fire house fire pole, and landed half a mile out from the northern limits.

Close to the earth? Cracker Crumb, you sin't lived until you've spent a season blasting quarry rock for construction or the following winter downing pines, and maples for firewood.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Talk about your startling revelations, one came through in a news story last week that's gonna take some getting used to.

Seems there's a group of 10 European countries that's started their own space program and they've already planned 572 space missions starting in 1980 and lasting past 2000.

They plan to hitch their rides aboard the U.S. Space shuttle. (That's the one that was named Constitution but Ford had a better idea. He named it Enterprise in memory of Captain Kirk's video vehicle.)

But the startling thing is the picture being conjured up for the first European spaceman.

So whaddya think of when some mentions an "astronaut"? Tall, sunburned, handsome dude, right?

Got a touch of grey at the temples to show his maturity but that mahogany face doesn't really have all that many wrinkles, just a few crow's feet around the eyes. Full head of hair and a crooked smile but straight teeth.

Right?

Wrong. Those are the heroes of days gone by, kiddies. Captain America didn't have a thing on John Glenn or Scott Carpenter but the European version of man in space is conjured up as something different.

Try on a middle-aged, balding guy wearing glasses and maybe even dentures. Think of the same general image (except the balding part) and fit the frame to a woman.

Seems the Europeans aren't interested so much in the John F. Kennedy prototype as they are in someone who can contribute something to Science. The explorers and mountain men have paved the way and it looks like it might be time for the pioneers to set up housekeeping on the frontiers of space.

Now, anyone knows you can't quite plow up the back forty of a space station but there are some things that might be the same, especially when the women start hanging their panty hose up in the shower room and putting chenille curtains across the porches.

Might be time to leave the exploration to the Captain Kirks and Lieutenant Uhurrs and let the average family take over the more sedentary life of the space station orbiting around the home planet.

You'll know it ain't no big thing, though, when Mom and Dad loan the space shuttle to junior for a date to the drive-in at the neighborhood asteroid.

That's probably about the same time they start delivering milk on a daily basis and the swinging couples take off for the first 'Jug' and 'Suds' drive-in on the moon. That'll be about the same time the first McDonald's starts grilling the first 'Big Spocks'.

Well, it must be that time of the year again. Christmas decorations are up on the streets, merchandise is on the shelves of the local stores and letters to Santa were in the mailbox the other day.

Now, why letters addressed to Santa Claus, North Pole should be delivered to the Belle Glade Herald. I don't know unless someone down at the post office figured I qualified.

I realize St. Nick and I bear a certain physical resemblance but let's not get carried away with it, Ken. I don't even have any whiskers to speak of.

And while the weather ain't been typical of sunny Florida lately, you still can't call it exactly arctic.

Dateline history

By JEROME TURK & WM. D. ELLIS

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 4, 1776—We were kicking the mud off our heels here outside the house that is, Gen'l Washington's temporary headquarters. The weather has grown warm but rainy.

Trent Washington's force—what's left of it—will be across the Delaware on the west shore. About a hundred men a day have been deserting.

As usual, Col. John Glover's Marblehead, Mass., regiment of sailor-soldiers are performing the rescue operation that will save Gen'l Washington's 3,000 remaining troops from the clutches of the hard-pressing British column under Charles Cornwallis.

I was horrified to learn from the group of worried-looking aides and dispatch riders, with me that the whereabouts of the arrogant 46-year-old Maj. Gen'l Charles Lee and his 4,000 men are still unknown. Turk had gone to Maj. Gen'l Nathaniel Greene's headquarters to see if any word of Lee has been received there.

A dispatch from Lee dated Nov. 30 came to Gen'l Washington yesterday, telling him that Lee was at last moving and bringing "4,000 firm and willing troops" into New Jersey. But Lee gave no indication of following orders to join Washington to make a stand against the British column aimed at Philadelphia.

Even since the hasty retreat before Cornwallis began at Fort Mifflin, two weeks and a hundred miles ago, Washington has been seeking the reinforcement of Lee's army. Panicked by the retreat, Adjutant General Joseph Reed, although a close friend of Gen'l Washington, privately wrote to Lee imploring him to save the army from Washington's inept leadership.

On the afternoon of the 30th last, a mud-spattered rider arrived with a dispatch at Washington's Brunswick headquarters. It was from Gen'l Lee, addressed to Reed, who was away on a mission.

Desperate for news of Lee, the Gen'l opened the letter, which, according to our informant, thanked Reed for his "most flattering letter." It further hoped that "accident may put a decisive blunderer (Washington) in the right."

There it was. Two high officers were not only failing the commander in chief during a crisis, they were laughing at him—in hysteria, the other, in envy.

My informant swears the eyes of the Gen'l were glassy wet as he sat down and wrote on the cover of the letter, "Col. Reed—This was put into my hands by an express. Having no idea of it being a private letter, much less suspecting the tendency of the correspondence, I opened it as I usually do with dispatches."

George Washington's survival as commander of this Continental Army, his survival as a leader and the survival of the American cause itself are all three in jeopardy.

"These are times that try every one of us," I observed mournfully to Turk as he came sloughing through the mud of the road, his feet sticking with each step. "That's strange, Turk, replied. Those are nearly the words that rascal, Paine, just used on me." Turk explained that Thomas Paine has been shouldering a musket and acting as a kind of aide to Gen'l Greene. He has also been scribbling a new pamphlet during breaks on the long retreat from Ft. Mifflin.

"Paine leaves for Philadelphia tomorrow to get his new pamphlet published," said Turk through a mud-spotted face. "I have a feeling this piece will be more important to us than Common Sense was."

Christmas party for Retarded Citizen's pre-school children

NOT ALL THE CHILDREN at ARC were completely sure of the bearded gent (played by one of the children's grandmothers!), but Santa won most of them over.

Members of the Belle Glade Junior-Woman's Club held a special Christmas party for the retarded pre-school age children at the Association of Retarded Citizens facility on Dec. 2nd.

While presents and punch were provided by the Juniors, members of the Woman's Club of Belle Glade baked the Christmas cookies for youngsters.

Local and Glades area residents interested in the program are in the process of forming a Glades Area ARC separate from those which provide services to retarded children and adults on the coastal side of Palm Beach county.

Board members here include President Chuck Roessing, Community Relations Director at Quaker Oats; Treasurer Mrs. Lynn Sheahan, who is also representing St. John's Episcopal Church; First Vice President Mrs. Earlene Harrell of the Gove Elementary Exceptional Child Education Center; Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Lee Shaw; the Reverend Charles Robinson; Mrs.

Eileen Canty, Mrs. Evelyn Johnson who is with Palm Beach County Schools Migrant Education program; Mrs. Mary Campbell, representing the interested residents of South Bay; Attorney Katherine Washington, who is acting as the Board's legal and legislative affairs Chairman in order to keep the local ARC advised concerning pertinent pending legislation; and Junior Woman's Club members Mrs. Sandy Boots, publicity and public relations chairman, and Mrs. Sandra Chamblee, membership chairman. Other members will be added to the board as progress is made in obtaining separate status from the parent ARC serving the county.

According to Mrs. Boots, the Board has two immediate priorities for improving the present pre-school location. "The building now has neither heat nor air conditioning, and parents are having to bring small heaters from home to keep the children from being too cold indoors.

These heaters are not the safest thing to have with little children. We hope someone will come forward that can donate or give us an at-cost price on a combination reverse cycle A conditioning heating wall unit. We estimate this will run as much as $500, not including installation.

"Our second priority for the building is to fence in part of the yard. One side of the yard faces a very heavily traveled street," she explained. "Not all of the kids are able to run and play actively, but for those who can, we need the fence badly."

So far the local ARC Board has received a $100 donation from the City Council of Pahokee to go toward operating expenses, and a small donation from an interested individual.

"These are Glades area children," Mrs. Boots said, "who can be helped and who should be helped. At this early age, the proper training and therapy can save them from becoming adult candidates for places such as Sunland Training Centers.

We feel the approximate cost of $1,500 per year for services and training for our retarded children here is a wonderful investment when you consider that the cost of maintaining a Sunland resident is more than $12,000 per year.

"Obviously," she continued, "this is not just a community or government give-away program. The kids show remarkable progress, and our goal is to get them prepared to enter the special classes at the Exceptional Child Education Center.

"We have been successful because so many people really care about these little ones; teacher, County medical personnel, the ARC people who established the Center here in the first place, the parents, and the members of St. John's Episcopal Church who have provided this facility."

The next meeting of the local ARC Board will be held at Ringland Hall, Episcopal Church at 8 p.m., Jan. 20.

All interested citizens are urged to attend.

minding the store...

First off, that furniture store I mentioned last week? It's been called off and the boys at Royals have their heads together in a caucus. Something's going into that old Grant's building space on Avenue A, so don't you fear, and just maybe I'll tell you next week.

Over in Pahokee, there's a little restaurant right next to the high school that's being reopened under new management. Julie (she's the young one with a real cool vm) and Virginia (she's the older one with cuisine expertise) are opening the Bar-B-Que Hut. In fact, this week is the first fulltime hours the place has seen. Food lines may be extended, but right now there's thick bar-que pork and beef sandwiches with top-of-the-choice meat and next week, there will be fried seafood dinners. The Pahokee place used to be called The Pit and is not affiliated with any other restaurant in the Glades area.

Jack and Barbara Cushing (but mostly Barbara) on the corner just across from the Bank of Pahokee, have a whole bunch of new living things they are offering for sale. Plants, you dummy, not hogs. Barbans offering her mother insist on some really good plant buys and soon, they'll be making their plant business a little more official. Meanwhile, I'll be first to recommend their blooms. Don't know if there's any other bargains around like theirs, but I g - two pots of fresh mums for $3 less than the cheapest place on the coast. You big he-men that dig in the muck out there - there's no better prize for your lady than the fresh smell of blooming plants, and - as I mentioned earlier - they offer help to the female's mother instinct, and they're much cheaper than children.

The Bicentennial Freedom Train, that nation-wide wonder of our 225th anniversary, will be in Riviera Beach at the train station

Dec. 21, 22 and 23, sponsored locally by the Junior Woman's Club. Tickets are only available at one place. That monopoly is Tom Bonavia's Chevrolet here in Belle Glade. If you want a treat for the family, by all means, get tickets 'n' go.

Joe Hughes said he had a good Grand Opening Saturday. Met a lot of people, both old and new, and made a lot of people happy. The happiest was Ineo Velasco, 631 SE 2nd St. Belle Glade, who walked away with a $25 gift certificate. Two more customers got $5 certificates - Walter Rodriguez, and Roger Benjamin Jr. Janie Rodriguez, Jerry Campbell, Maria Dolores Brito and Beverly Buntin, all got $1 certificates.

Well, that just goes to show you cheaters don't win. I put in all kinds of cards under all kinds of assumed names and didn't get a thing.

By Andy Campanaro

Did you find it? If you did, and you're a regular subscriber, you must have tried harder. For four weeks, we ran the "I Found It" advertisement with the phone numbers inverted. Irony of ironies, we featured a picture of a billboard just two or three weeks ago in the front page with the phone number upsidown. Maybe somebody up there was telling us: "Everytime you point your finger, there's three pointing back at you."

While we're talking about the Herald, surely you've noticed our new clean look of six columns. And the combined Pahokee-Belle Glade look? We've received favorable comments from many readers and we're kind of proud of the changes ourselves. Of course, in transition, some copy gets garbled and typos occur, but we'll be comfortable in our new bed right soon.

We don't like changes for the sake of change, but when you're the leader, you got to keep ahead, or some old goblin just might getcha.

TIDBITS

Elsewhere in this issue is an extended story about Everglades Federal's newest success story in Clewiston. When the chips were down back in the hurricane and depression years, Everglades Federal was there plugging and keeping the Glades alive.

Such aggressive, solid business planning plus faith pays off and you can take that to the bank.

The Boss says I write this thing too long, but really what "Minding The Store" is all about is business action in the Herald and Observer's circulation area. Some week this thing won't even appear, because all is quiet on the muck front. Meanwhile, if you've got something happening in your business you want to share, call 996-2626 and ask for Dean, Ray or Andy. Or in Pahokee, Call 924-5571 and ask for Bill Woods.
